HIT THE BOOK CLUB WITH THE WONDER OF NOW BY JAMIE BECK

1. Peyton hurt her friend Claire terribly over a man/love. Could you forgive a friend for that? Would it make a difference if that man turned out to be the friend's soul mate, or is the saying "all's fair in love and war" a lie?
2. Peyton sees herself in a negative light (as a friend, as a woman, as an author), but Mitch thinks she's quite brave (for putting herself out there with the memoir). Which do you believe? Is it both? Peyton is at a crossroads, trying to make the most of her second chance at life by redefining her future. Have you ever thought about making a big change in your life? What's stopping you?
3. Both Peyton and Mitch have been burned by former lovers, making it hard for them to trust again. Do you think it's possible to be truly vulnerable to another after a major heartbreak?
4. Both Mitch and Peyton's family styles and relationships have had a major impact on their personalities and values. Which family do you identify with more?
5. Would you change that something about your family if you could?
If you were making The Wonder of Now into a movie, who would you cast for each role?
6. For Peyton I'd cast... _____
7. For Mitch I'd cast... _____
8. For Logan I'd cast... _____
9. For Claire I'd cast... _____
