Andrea Thome

CONTEMPORARY ROMANCE AUTHOR

BIO

Andrea Thome is the author of the award-winning Hesse Creek Series and Mine Again, the first book in the Sunflower series. A former sports and news anchor and occasional emcee, Andrea has two grown children and has been married to Hall of Fame baseball player, Jim Thome, for almost thirty years. The travel-loving couple divides their time between Chicago, Illinois and life on the road, usually with friends and always in search of hiking trails. The mountains are Andrea's happy place.

Andrea won both Ben Franklin and NAIA awards for her Hesse Creek series, set in Eastern Tennessee and Aspen, two of her favorite places in the world. In the black hole that was 2020-2021, she produced three new manuscripts to avoid thinking about the state of the world. The first of those books is coming to a bookshelf near you in October 2026!

BOOK

Mine Again

You won't want to miss this small-town romance set against the scenic Montana mountains, where love pushes past the boundaries keeping two people apart. Sometimes the right person comes along exactly when you're ready to start over.

Delilah Spencer is a rolling stone. A big city attorney from Chicago on a temporary work assignment in Sunflower, Montana.

Ranger Beckham's Sunflower roots run deep. Three generations to be exact. The high school band director and single father is adrift, fresh out of a marriage of convenience. He's all but given up on finding true love.

Until he bumps into Delilah, the fixer with trust issues who has a hard-and-fast rule: never get attached to the places she visits or the people in them. They strike a deal when the chemistry between them burns too hot to ignore, convincing themselves they'll be able to part as friends when Delilah's gig is up, no matter how scorching things get between them.

But the slower pace in tight-knit Sunflower is a balm for Delilah's restless soul, and it becomes impossible to imagine leaving Ranger or Montana behind. Will Delilah break her own rules and finally put down roots, or will she cut and run when her contract is up, leaving Ranger and the life she never knew she wanted in the rearview mirror?
